

The Susan Schreiber 'Grassroots' Award Nomination Form

Susan Schreiber made a tremendous contribution to our field even though she passed at the young age of 54. Like many of us, she found her way to this work through her own recovery. Starting with Daytop Village in the late 1980's, she moved through a number of organizations in positions as a clinician, a supervisor, and a trainer, but always was an advocate. She promoted recovery with a grass roots approach, boots on the ground, always present to people on their recovery journey. She was not only a colleague, she was a dear friend.

The Susan Schreiber Grassroots Award recognizes the championing work done in communities where stigma abounds and at-risk populations are frequently marginalized. It honors the individual's courage, tenacity, leadership, and dedication necessary to educate and empower persons to make a commitment to service.
